The 2021 Bianco Casal is impossible to ignore, blossoming in the glass with a beguiling blend of crushed oyster shells and smoke that gives way to apricot and sesame. It fills the palate with silky textural fruits quickly complicated by saline minerals and savory, exotic spices swirling throughout. The mouth is left watering as the 2021 finishes lightly structured yet full of tension, leaving behind green apple and lemon oil notes that linger on and on. This is a drop-dead gorgeous Bianco Casal, an equal-part blend of Trebbiano di Soave and Garganega from vines over seventy years old.
